REWARD FOR TELLING...

At mid-week, a number of Camerites were in Fort Worth acknowledging for the community the 1974 Governor's Beautification Award presented by Gov. Dolph Briscoe.

It is significant in that more towns of 5,000 to 10,000 are competitive for such an award than in any other bracket. There are about five other size designations.

The plaque will be mounted in the mall area, which is the focal point of all the work which was described in the narrative.

The mall is not the only project enumerated, but it happened that the mall's opening June, 1974, plus all the other efforts developed during that year proved well beyond anything other small cities in this bracket could muster.

This column and this newspaper have discussed at length all the advantages of doing what has been done, but it has taken this level of recognition the first time out to convince us what it all means.

I can name you a few "for examples."

Incoming industry will find this a particularly interesting aspect of growth, not only in development, but in quality. New industry likes to see a town invest in itself. None has reinvested more and modernized more in this area in a decade.

Visitors will find this acknowledgement attractive for choosing

Cameron and Milam County for home location, additional investment.

Bonding companies in the event of the bond election will find this a plus in putting public bonds up for sale in a competitive bond market. A record of paying back public debt while doing all this improvement impresses anybody.

Planners of all types, regional, state, national will find this recognition an easy basis for putting Cameron up as an example in numerous areas of community development, which puts the town on still other favorable lists around the state and nation.

You may add others. To be sure, those in Fort Worth this week were seeing rewards for "telling it like it is."

Taylor Festival To Celebrate

All 60 acres of the Taylor city park will be packed with entertainment for the fourth annual Taylor Independence Festival scheduled for July 3, 4, and 5.

Some of the activities include: arts and crafts show; flea market; beauty pageant; carnival; tennis tournament; helicopter rides; pet parade; swimming and diving contest; street dances; foods of all nations; various games; and a gigantic fireworks display.

PLANS APPROVED—Milam County Commissioners have approved plans for a new tax office to be built to the county jail. Here Emmett Trant, left, of Trant Associates of Bryan, shows plans to the group. Shown with Trant are County Auditor John Andres, and Commissioners Adolph Gresak and LaVert McKinney.

Commissioners Give Go Ahead To Architects

Milam County commissioners gave the go-ahead to architects for the new county tax office, to be constructed on the north side of the new Milam County jail.

At a called meeting Monday afternoon, Emmett Trant of Emmett Trant and Associates, architects and engineers of Bryan, presented preliminary plans for the new building to commissioners.

Trant said the final plans will be drawn up in about a week and the firm will get out bids for construction in about ten days.

The 4,080-square-foot building will follow architectural lines of the jail, with a brick front that matches the jail. Cost is estimated between $110,000 and $120,000 and the county will pay for the structure with revenue sharing funds.

Plans call for a lobby, clerical area, assessors office, other offices, conference room, appraisers office, storage, vault, office machine room, restrooms, and work rooms.

All areas will be carpeted except the vault and storage rooms.

County tax assessor-collector Valter White conferred with Trant on the customized cabinets planned to fit present record storage and materials for the office.

There will be large parking area on the north side of the building for employees parking and parking space in front for tax customers.

A soil test will come first to determine what type of foundation will be poured, Trant said.

City Receives Achievement Award

FORT WORTH
Cameron was one of six cities named winners of the Governor's Community Achievement Awards competition Wednesday by Governor Dolph Briscoe.

This year's six winners were announced at a noon luncheon here during the eighth annual meeting of the Beautify Texas Council. Other winners are Fort Worth, Tyler, Eagle Pass, Devine, and Mount Vernon. Each was recognized for having done the most toward community beautification and improving environmental quality of any city of comparable size.

In addition, special Bicentennial Awards were announced by the Council. The Janey Briscoe Beautify Texas Council Bicentennial Award went to the Smithville Bicentennial Commission. Other Bicentennial Awards were made by the Council to San Marcos, the Nacogdoches Federation of Women's Clubs, Gray County, and the Christian Reinhardt Society (Children of the American Revolution) of Longview.

Accepting the award for Cameron was Mrs. Perry (Bonnie Bell) Holder.

The annual competition is sponsored by the Beautify Texas Council, with the cooperation of the Governor's Office, the Department of Community Affairs, and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Winning cities received large cast aluminum plaques signed by the Governor which are suitable for display either indoors or in an outdoor setting.

Cameron began its long-term improvement program in 1971 with the receipt of a Federal loan for urban renewal, but the culmination of the program was reached in 1974, when almost 2,000 citizens representing the chamber of commerce, municipal government, civic organizations, schools, women's groups and churches worked together to complete 17 specific goals. The activities included completion of a downtown mall, restoration of two city parks, landscaping of public and residential areas, and the securing of additional doctors to broaden health services.

Providing opportunities for the youth of Cameron was given priority through the organization of livestock and broiler shows and the construction of playgrounds and sports fields, demonstration gardens and a greenhouse, nature trails, and lake in a refurbished city park.

Churches, schools, clubs, the Highway Department, Folk Fete, Inc., and the chamber of commerce joined with the city and county authorities, and the community planning commission in the improvement of their properties. Residential areas were also improved by owners who then gave volunteer service on civic projects. In short, Cameron has entered a new era in accomplishment, in beautification, and in citizenship.

Area Cities Bank Sales Tax Refund

The City of Cameron banked a check for $8,874.23 which was issued for the sales tax refund for the period ending May 30, 1975. The refunds are now being sent monthly instead of quarterly as they were in the past.

Other cities also banked checks in varying amounts:

Rockdale, $7,182.09
Rosebud, $2,959.20
Rogers, $587.82
Thorndale, $1,491.89
Hearne, $7,225.40
Caldwell, $4,003.01
Calvert, $1,334.45

JOE AL PICONE

Governor To Install Officers

Joe Al Picone, Governor of District 2-33, Lions International will install officers for three area Lions Clubs at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, June 19 at the Methodist Fellowship Hall.

Officers will be installed for the Cameron Evening Lions, Cameron Noon Lions, and the Buckholts Lions Club at the meeting.

Buckholts School District Given 'Final Warning'

The Buckholts Independent School District has been given a "final warning" by the Division of Accreditation of the Texas Education Agency, giving the district until June 30, 1976 to upgrade its system in areas of instruction, student services, and plant maintenance.

Supt. Leon Brady said the system will be required to enter a Needs Assessments Program, calling for an overall evaluation and long range planning up to five years. If plans are not completed but show progress, the deadline will be extended, he said.

The board of trustees president, A. W. Zajicek Jr., and superintendent met with the state director recently. He assured school officials that a good instructional program could be provided for the youth of the district and that the system has the resources. The director also stated that Agency policies are being studied for changes making the offering of more courses of study available to high school students.

Brady said since the accreditation visit last October, many corrections have been made and are being made during the summer.

All programs have been updated and the curriculum is being designed for the quarter system that goes into effect in August.

"The new education bill indicates an asset to our district," Supt. Brady said. "Unofficially, I see no place where it took away any personnel or funds. It is my finding that the district has been guaranteed its present status and it gives additional state money to operate."

"The outlook to the citizens of the Buckholts School District is brighter at present than it has been for the past several years," he added.

In other school news, Ray Harris was appointed to the board of trustees, replacing Richard Crowe. Other members of the board are: Zajicek, president; Ed Lehmann, vice-president; Glenda Ruzicka, secretary; Joe Biskup, Gladys Allison, and Elbert Svetlik.

Brady said most of the faculty positions have been filled. There is a possibility that a part-time librarian is to be employed as well as a chemistry teacher. A combination of the two is being considered.

Other high school teachers are Jimmy Hauk, principal; Tim Johnson, vo-ag; Sharlene Lott, homemaking; Martha Henry, math; Estha Zajicek, English and Czech culture; Mike Shain, biology and coach.

Elementary teachers include: Eugenia Wolf, K-1; Elva Vargas, 2 and elementary Spanish; Nadine Zelisko 3-4; and Jean Ribar, special education.

Other school personnel: Dorothy Rachul, secretary and tax assessor; Audrey McCall, special ed aide; Paula Orsag, Title I aide; Emma Rangel, NYC aide; Melotrie Gresak and Lucille Malovets, lunchroom; and W. H. Malovets, custodian.

Firemen Answer Calls

Volunteer firemen answered three calls Sunday, starting at 5:15 a.m. when a car belonging to Johnny Cortin was destroyed in a garage fire at 600 N. Houston. At 9 a.m. an electrical fire was reported on one of the mall light standards, and at 11:45 p.m. there was a grass fire near Buckholts.

Milam County Crops Tour Set For Tuesday

By Bill McCutchen

Wilburn Beckhusen, Milam County Crops Committee chairman, has announced that the 1975 Milam County Crops Tour will be held Tuesday morning, June 24.

The tour will feature grain sorghum variety plots, including twin seeded grain sorghum, new cold tolerant, disease resistant cotton varieties, the newest crop in the county—sunflowers; organically fertilized grain sorghum, and a tour of a catfish farm.

Beckhusen announced that the tour would meet at the Post Office in Cameron and leave this point at 8:45 a.m.

The twin seeded grain sorghum is the first ever grown in Milam County and may be a preview of things to come. Researchers say that twin seeded varieties have the capacity to increase yields by 20% or more over present varieties but they add that it will be some time before twin seeded varieties will be available commercially.

The pro's and con's of sunflower production will be discussed at the second stop of the day. An estimated 1400 acres of sunflowers were planted in Milam County this year and many farmers are considering this crop for '76.

A cotton variety demonstration featuring some of the most promising lines developed by Dr. Luther Bird of Texas A&M will be viewed at the third stop. These are high producing, cold tolerant, disease resistant line. Some of the lines will probably be released to seed breeders this year.

The grain sorghum variety demonstrations on the following stops are always of much interest to Milam County producers as this is by far the top money crop in the county and new varieties are evaluated in these demonstrations each year.

The final stop will be on the Joe Glaser farm where organically grown grain sorghum and the always interesting catfish operation will be viewed.

Producers will also have the opportunity to visit with several Texas A&M specialists; Dr. Walter Walls, plant pathologist; Dr. Charles Cole, entomologist; Dr. Dave Weaver, cotton weed control; Dr. Robert B. Metzger, new cotton specialist, who replaced Fred Elliott; and Dr. John Bremar, grain sorghum specialist recently replacing Ben Spears. In addition to this, several seed company representatives will be on the tour.

Beckhusen said the tour was open to anyone wishing to attend.

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editor:

Most of the economists, who didn't know the recession was coming, are now saying it's ending, at least if not this quarter then the next quarter or the next one after that, somewhat like the football coach who said he could have won if there'd been five or maybe six quarters in the game.

So now the problem, they say, is inflation which, as one of them said, "everybody knows is caused by too much money chasing too few goods." This of course leaves out one other factor; the greed that causes bigger and bigger mark-ups. Wint us and the Arabs for example, it's less and less money chasing more and more oil at higher and higher prices. And sometimes I get the feeling some outfits in this country are using the Arab system.

Economists though are in such a bad repote I've decided to come to their rescue, and am establishing the J. A. School of Guaranteed Accuracy in Economic Forecasts.

It will be divided into three parts. Viewing the current situation, for example, Part A will say things are getting better; Part B will say things are getting worse; Part C will say they're going to stay about the same. Whichever way things go, you can look back six months from now, pick out one prediction and ignore the other two, and say, you know, he was right about that.

I don't know what economists get paid, but I'll take half what they're getting and consider my salary inflationary.

Changing the subject, I see that our friend New York, the city with lots of brains but not enough sense to manage its money, has re-financed with a big loan and is now able to pay its bills for the next few months at least, for which the mayor has heaved a sigh of relief.

It reminds me of the man who had a note coming due at the bank and couldn't meet it. After spending three sleepless nights before the due date worrying about it he went in and confessed to the banker he simply couldn't pay off. The banker let him sweat a while, and then agreed to renew the note.

The man signed quickly, came out of the bank, wiped his brow, and said, "Man, am I glad to get that debt settled."

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Cemetery Restoration...

About a decade ago, the old City Cemetery on SH 36 east of Cameron, was cleared of brush. Some markers were repaired or straightened.

But in 1975 some additional money needs to be raised to restore this "Cameron Pioneer Cemetery" to a decent standard for the personal interest of ancestors and for tourists driving by who look for the history found in old cemeteries.

This cemetery is outside the city limits, so is beyond receiving direct aid from the City of Cameron, though some of Cameron's early founders may have been buried there a hundred years ago.

But about $700 is needed to clean up the acre plot of graves, one dating to a burial about 1845, the person buried being born in the late 1700s, that's right, the late 1700s. For this area, that is old.

About $350 already has been contributed by ancestors. It will take about a $1000 to put the place back in shape.

It is accessible to tourists and those interested in tracing ancestors. It is right off SH 36 and will be fenced and designated with contributions.

We urge again, as we did 10 years ago, that history-oriented people, tourist-development people, and heirs of persons buried there are justified in contributing funds to maintain this unique cemetery.

Just send your donation in care of Pioneer Cemetery Fund, Citizens National Bank, Cameron, TX 76520.

And if you do, tell them Herald sent you.

New Program Lists Available Jobs

A new program to boost the economy has identified more than 6,000 available jobs in its first month of operation.

Executive Director Jim Harwell of Texas Industrial Commission said the effort represented a 50 per cent increase over projections for the entire year.

Lists of new jobs, starting Monday, were posted on windows of local Texas Employment Commission offices.

Harwell indicated the "Texas First" program may result in identification of more than 15,000 jobs during the year — with an economic impact of more than $1 billion annually.

Texas Education Agency, Texas Employment Commission, Texas Department of Community Affairs and the Governor's Division of Planning Coordination are participating with the Industrial Commission in the program.

Employees lacking skills are offered training through the Texas Start-Up Training Program conducted by the Industrial Commission and through sponsors of manpower training projects.

More than 200 of the top 1,000 Texas industries responded favorably to a questionnaire on expansion needs.

Letters

Dear Mr. Luecke:

It is a matter of record that the past income tax filing period was the busiest ever for the IRS southern Texas district. We answered more than 760,000 tax questions from callers. The new toll free telephone tax information service made this possible. Moreover, about 240,000 taxpayers visited our offices for information or to get help with their tax return.

At the Service Center, tax returns were received at a 10 percent faster rate than last year. Number-wise, we had received the projected 2.6 million returns within a week after the filing deadline.

Only an informed public can respond this way. The Cameron Herald had a vital role in these successes. I am grateful to you and to your staff for this support.

Sincerely,

Continuing To Build...

County Commissioners Court has voted unanimously to build a 4,000-square foot plus tax office and courthouse annex next to the new Milam jail.

This will take the tax assessor-collector's offices out of the Milam Courthouse basement for a modern, accessible location. And other space will be available for building lobby and extension offices, we understand.

Construction will be paid out of revenue sharing funds.

This project will be in time with plans to put a museum in the old Milam jail, from which the Sheriff is moving. One of the vehicles in the Folk Fete parade was a car designated for the restoration of old Milam jail as Milam Museum.

These dual projects will further bring the Milam Courthouse to new life and new attraction. It is indeed progress in the broadest sense when public service is modernized the same year that Milam history finds a home.

We say again: This is a generation of builders, continuing to build.

"Low Down" FROM THE Congressional Record

By JOE CRUMP

(A Column for Readers Who Haven't Time to Review the Congressional Record Daily)

"SUE"; NO ANSWER TO MALPRACTICE ISSUE

Rep. Matthew J. Rinaldo (N.J.). In a statement I recently issued, I discussed the problems connected with malpractice insurance and the very real need for reform in this area. Because my statement raises certain important factors connected with malpractice insurance, I am inserting it in the Record so that it may receive the attention of my colleagues." (Condensed article follows):

Malpractice Insurance

Sue somebody. That describes the new national mood as Americans flock to law's offices with a medical bill in one hand and a determination to cash in on somebody's misfortune in the other.

In the case of medical malpractice suits, it is weakling trust between doctors and patient and affecting the type of care and emergency service that the medical profession has willingly supplied for 200 years in this country.

Delicate surgery in which there is a high risk of death or permanent damage has made many doctors wary of proceeding because of the implicit threat that if anything goes wrong they may be heavily sued and driven out of the profession.

More and more we hear that doctors are practicing defensive medicine — ordering more consultation, X-rays, and other expensive laboratory procedures because of an increase in unjustified malpractice claims. For example, Dr. Norman Blackman, president of the Kings County Medical Society in New York, has claimed that only 18 cents of the doctor's insurance dollar goes to an injured patient. Eighty-two cents goes to lawyers, insurance companies, insurance brokers and overhead. Naturally, the lawyers are protesting such claims.

Medical insurance coverage should, in my opinion, remain a private matter with regulation of the insurance industry left to the states. Federal takeover of malpractice insurance would guarantee no improvements. Both professions should police themselves better to weed out those whose primary aim is to get rich on someone else's misery.

The best remedy is the cheapest; mutual trust and medical competence. It is something that money cannot buy and the government cannot provide.

CRUMP'S GRASS ROOTS COMMENT

The public is patiently waiting for news that incompetent doctors and equally irresponsible lawyers are getting the attention of their respective Boards that monitor professional ethics.

Record Wheat Crop Puts Pressure On Prices

Harvesting of a record wheat crop is under way, and pressure is mounting on the prices farmers receive for their crop.

Roland D. Smith, grain marketing specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, sees wheat prices at the $2.75-$3 per bushel level during the coming weeks as the 1975 crop moves to market.

"Harvesting of the estimated two-billion-bushel crop is gaining momentum in the wheat producing areas," points out Smith, "although late winter weather and heavy spring rains caused earlier delays. According to the U. S. Department of Agriculture crop report of June 10, the Texas wheat crop is estimated at 132 million bushels, more than double last year's output."

The specialist feels that early harvested wheat will be marketed on schedule but that a considerable amount will be stored in elevators as the harvest progresses and prices begin to decline.

"In addition to the expected record harvest in the United States, limited exports and an expected increase in world wheat production also will have a dampening effect on the prices U. S. farmers receive for their wheat," points out the Texas A&M University System specialist.

"Wheat exports are well behind USDA projected levels of 1.1 million bushels, meaning a larger carryover than expected. Of course, the cancellation of wheat contracts by Turkey (some 18.6 million bushels) was a damaging blow. Now importers are counting on the big crop to push prices lower before they have to buy. India is the only significant single buyer of the new-crop wheat."

World wheat production in 1975 should be some 7 percent above last year, according to the International Wheat Council. There is still much concern over the all-important USSR crop, but recent rains were reported to have alleviated some of the dry conditions.

"This increase in world production is expected to enhance the competition for wheat exports during the coming year," contends Smith. "The European Common Market has enacted an export subsidy to undercut current U. S. wheat prices."

On the brighter side, some expansion of wheat feeding is expected this summer, with the possibility that wheat usage as feed may reach 200 million bushels, according to the specialist.

"Animal nutritionists say that wheat can be substituted in cattle rations up to 35-49 percent. Wheat prices are already competitive with feedgrains in some of the Plains states where feedgrains are in short supply due to a poor crop last year. Wheat at $2.85 per bushel would be at about a break-even price with corn at $2.67 a bushel. This situation might help set a floor price for wheat, although livestock feeding is still limited."

"Farmer selling intentions are a critical consideration in price projections," believes Smith, "since they control virtually 100 percent of the wheat supply this year. Last year wheat producers held their crop past harvest, partially resulting in higher prices received."

The specialist contends more wheat will likely be stored in Texas and Oklahoma this year if prices fall much below the $3 level.

North Texas elevators are reporting limited selling at harvest. Furthermore, wheat producer organizations are advocating "orderly marketing" to insure better prices for growers.

"The wheat market is quite weather-oriented now and will be through July," says Smith. "Good harvest weather will mean a record crop and that will put pressure on the wheat market. Wheat as well as other grain producers have to pay particular attention to the market situation this year to get the most for their crops," he adds.

FB Head Thankful For Relief Decision

Texas FarmBureau President Carol Chaloupka has thanked the Federal Power Commission for extending emergency interim relief on natural gas used for irrigation fuel until June 15, 1976.

"This is a welcome relief for thousands of our agricultural producers who could not obtain adequate financing under a lower priority status," Chaloupka said in a message Friday to FPC Chairman John N. Nassikas. Chaloupka said the Texas Farm Bureau wants the No. 2 priority made permanent. The Commission order extended the "interim deferral to June 15, 1976, or until a final Commission decision has been issued."

Loans Compared

Interest rates on home remodeling loans are higher than on a mortgage for buying a home. But the total of interest paid for remodeling will be less, because this type is paid off faster.

Sorghum Breeding Stocks Released For Development

The Texas Agricultural Experiment Station (TAES) at Lubbock has released a large number of sorghum breeding stocks for research and development by private industry.

The announcement was made by Dr. George McBee, resident director of the Lubbock station.

The material consists of 120 converted lines from the sorghum conversion program headed by Dr. Darrell Rose and cooperators, and 140 breeding stocks from the Frank Gaines-R.E. Karper sorghum breeding nursery located at Lubbock.

All the converted sorghum varieties come from the World Sorghum Collection which is made up of more than 16,000 entries collected from throughout the world. The imported lines were placed in a special research effort referred to by scientists as the sorghum conversion program. It is conducted cooperatively by the TAES and the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Research Service at the Mayaguez Institute of Tropical Agriculture, Mayaguez, Puerto Rico.

Puerto Rico.

Puerto Rico was selected for the crossing and backcrossing procedure, said McBee, because of the favorable short day-length periods during the winter. Selection for early, short plants is done in Texas under long day conditions during the regular growing season.

The converted lines were developed through a backcross procedure in which tall, late-maturing tropical varieties were converted to early-maturing, combine height sorghums. They represent new sources of germplasm and are of height and maturity for easy use in the U. S. and other temperate zone areas of the world.

"These converted lines should be useful to sorghum breeders as germplasm sources containing desirable characteristics, and should contribute greatly to the development of superior sorghum lines and hybrids," McBee noted.

The materials possess superior sources of most desirable characteristics in sorghum, especially disease and insect resistance and grain quality, he added.

In these lines there are outstanding sources of resistance to downy mildew, heat smut, maize dwarf mosaic, anthracnose, Fusarium headblight and several foliar diseases. Good sources of resistance to lodging and charcoal rot also exist in these lines.

Several lines with high levels of mildew resistance are included in the 120 released converted lines.

The conversion program is carried out cooperatively among several TAES sorghum scientists located at Lubbock, Chillicothe, College Station, and Corpus Christi.

The 140 breeding stocks from the Gaines-Karper nursery were selected for release by Frank Gaines (former TAES - now retired) as the best and most representative material from the large breeding nursery started by the late R. E. Karper.

As a former sorghum breeder and TAES, vice-director, Karper was one of the pioneers in sorghum improvement throughout the world. The Gaines-Karper nursery contributed the parents of the first sorghum hybrids. A yellow-endosperm selection from this nursery is now being used extensively as a pollinator parent of hybrids in Texas and throughout the world.

TEXAS TALK

By Skip Hobbs

Bunches are getting bigger, especially if you're counting heads in a hog herd. To ascertain the reasons for this phenomenon, a survey was conducted by the University of Missouri and the USDA's Statistical Reporting Service. Surveying the 14 largest hog producing states, they used a criterion of annual marketing of 1,000 head or more to categorize major producers. Few of the larger operations produced their own grain supply, and they farrowed only half of their marketed hogs. 60% of the heavy producers diversified marketing by making greater use of terminal markets and auctions than their smaller counterparts. Over 75% of these bumper operations are continuing to grow with any lag contributed to uncertain market returns. The future indicated by the survey points to larger hog operations, with slightly different techniques, but with management remaining in the hands of the family farmer.

One Thing In Common... Two Above Failing...
Five More Approved... Sheep, Lamb Feeding Less Than Half.

Texas farmers-from the High Plains to the Rio Grande Valley-have one thing in common for the next several weeks. Harvest of the 1975 crops is underway.

But there is a contrast. While farmers in the northern part of the state get into wheat harvest, those in the southern sections are combining sorghum and getting ready to harvest cotton. Farmers on the High Plains are finishing planting of cotton for this season.

Delays have also been noted in harvests throughout the state due to rains. Wheat harvest is around the 20 per cent completion mark in the state.

IF YOU WENT TO SCHOOL many years ago, you'll recall that any grade you made below 70 was considered failing. Agriculture, based on that grading system, is just barely above failure in its recent parity ratio figure.

The latest parity figure is now a 72; that's three points above a month ago, but six points under a year ago at this time.

Of the 26 commodities listed by the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service, only three are above parity. They are oats, which is 13 cents per bushel above parity, mohair, at 21 cents above parity, and sheep, 70 cents above parity.

Calves and cotton continue to be glaring examples of disparity. The average calf price in Texas is set at 26 cents per pound; parity for calves is 67.10 cents per pound. Cotton price average in the state is 31.1 cents per pound. Parity for that commodity is 77.12 cents per pound.

Even hog prices-which have shown dramatic price rises in recent months-continue below parity. The average hog price in Texas is $43.30; parity is set at $47.50.

In other livestock prices, beef cattle averaged $33.80 (that's up $3.10 from a month ago); parity is $54.90.

In crop prices, the wheat price average of around $3 per bushel is more than $1.50 under parity. Grain sorghum about a dollar under parity.

Egg prices at 52 cents per dozen are 23 cents under parity. Turkey prices at 35 cents per pound are a dime under parity.

FIVE MORE TEXAS COUNTIES have been approved for emergency livestock feed. They are Cameron, Duval, Hidalgo, Jim Hogg and Jim Wells counties. Emergency livestock feeding is needed by a number of eligible producers in those counties to relieve feed shortages caused by prolonged dry weather conditions.

"TP&L's 'shopping list' costs are going up too."

"As Manager of Purchasing for Texas Power & Light, I'm especially aware of the rising costs of practically every item of material and equipment we must buy to provide your electric service. The 1975 cost average of the few items you see here is more than 88% higher than the 1970 cost."

But that's only part of the story. Generating plant fuels cost more. In 1952, the price of natural gas, the principal fuel used by TP&L, was just five cents per 1,000 cubic feet. In 1974, the price was 48 cents per 1,000 cubic feet. The Company's total fuel bill in 1974 was $89 million, more than 64% higher than in 1973.

Construction costs more. To counter the spiraling cost of gas, TP&L is continuing to build new generating plants which will use lignite coal and nuclear materials. Ironically, the cost of lignite-fueled plants is more than twice as much per kilowatt as gas-fueled plants and the cost of nuclear plants is still higher. Financing costs more. TP&L must borrow money to construct its plants and other facilities. While the interest rates the Company must pay on borrowed money are now somewhat lower than the all-time high of 10 1/2% in 1974, they are still about twice the rates in 1964.

Texas Power & Light has always worked to keep the price of electricity as low as possible, consistent with maintaining the reliable service you expect. We will continue this effort in the future, but as our costs increase so must the price you pay for the electricity you use.

Woman Mountain Climber Dislikes Public Life

By Elizabeth Hawley

Reuter--The first woman to conquer Mount Everest has come down from the clouds around the summit and talked of her love of adventure, science, and music--and her dislike of public life.

Mrs. Junko Tabei, a 34-year-old housewife from Kawagoe, Japan, hardly expected early last month that she would soon be standing at the top of the world's highest mountain. She thought her duties as deputy leader of the Japanese women's Everest expedition would prevent her from climbing very high.

Yet on May 16, the diminutive--she weighs only 95 pounds and is four feet, 11 inches tall--mother of a 3-year-old daughter--made mountaineering history as she reached the summit of the 29,028 foot mountain.

On her return here she made it clear that she had no intention of becoming a public figure. "I don't like to be chairman of committees," she told Reuter. "I will continue climbing and adventure. I like nature."

Mrs. Tabei spoke of her desire to go to the North and South Poles. Having already been to the Himalayas--which have been called the "Third Pole"--she said, "Now I want to go to the number one and number two poles."

She would also like one day to return to the Himalayas and climb the world's second highest peak, the 28,250-foot mountain called K-2 in the Karakoram Range.

She said she had in fact planned to attempt K-2 about eight years ago with a friend, Miss Lumi Saso of Tokyo, but Miss Saso died in the Japanese Alps. Mrs. Tabei would like to tackle the mountain with another all-woman expedition.

"In Japanese homes it is very difficult for the housewife to go out of the home," she said, "but my home is different because my husband also likes climbing and adventure."

However, they have no plans to climb together.

For 10 years, Mrs. Tabei worked for a scientific group, the Physics Society of Japan, and was editor of their journal. She gave up the job when her daughter was born.

But now the child is three, she said, "and I can go out again." She said she would like to return to the physics society. Meanwhile, she enjoys playing the piano, giving piano lessons, and continuing her 15-year study of a difficult Japanese stringed instrument called the koto.

Before she left Katamandu last February for the Everest assault, Mrs. Tabei did not expect to reach the summit. She thought the younger members of the all-woman expedition would go to the top and that she would stay at the team's advance base camp 21,000 feet up, where her duties as deputy expedition leader would keep her busy with logistics.

However, the younger members of the team did not acclimate well, and after an avalanche which struck the advance base camp on May 3, it was decided she would try for the summit.

She was certain then that she would reach the top.

"My condition was very good and my spirit said I must climb and I will climb," she recalled.

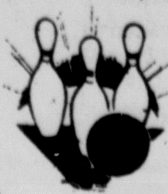

She described Ang Tsering, the Sherpa who reached the summit with her, as "very strong, a very good climber, a very good mind."

Less than two weeks after Mrs. Tabei's historic achievement the New China News Agency in Peking announced that nine Chinese climbers, including a woman, had reached the summit of Everest in late May.

The Temple Junior College Rodeo Club has announced that it will make available two $150 scholarships for the school year to two active rodeo participants, either male or female. The final awards will be made by a scholarship committee.

Any individual who is interested in securing one of these scholarships should contact either Mrs. Wilma Lewis, faculty advisor of the Temple Junior College Rodeo Club; or Dr. Walt Paul, dean of Student Services.

Each spring the TJC Rodeo Club produces a college rodeo under the direction of the National Interscholastic Rodeo Association. In 1975, TJC had the largest rodeo in the Southern Region, in both contestants and audience. In addition, the TJC Rodeo Club will be responsible in 1975-76 for an elimination rodeo covering a ten county area for the annual high school state championship held at Hallettsville, Texas.

Ample Rainfall Makes Good Hunting Prospects

AUSTIN

So far, Texas weather across most of the State has been good for the production of game.

Biologists at the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department hesitate to go out on a limb but next fall's hunting prospects are bright because of the ample rainfall this spring.

Out in West Texas, TP&WD Regional Wildlife Director Jack Parsons at San Angelo says that game prospects look better than they did last year.

According to Parsons, the outlook is good for turkey and quail. White-tailed deer and mule deer will not drop their fawns until later in the summer and it is too early to comment on deer production.

In East Texas, Bob Van Cleave, regional wildlife director for the department at Tyler, said that some 12 inches of rain this spring will delay the quail hatch.

South Texas is the only part of the state which needs rain. Regional Wildlife Director Bob West of Rockport reports that the area is some six inches behind its normal rainfall for this time of the year.

The dry area includes Webb County and other popular South Texas deer and quail-hunting spots.

"The deer range is still in relatively good shape," said West, "but things could become bad if we do not get rain before the fawning season."

Prospects in the Rio Grande Valley for white-winged dove production look very good. Much of the Valley has been planted with sorghum grains and more doves are using citrus trees for nesting.

The only possible bad news for whitewings might be the drought in Mexico which extends from Matamoros south. This will affect whitewing nesting in Mexico and could possibly affect hunting in Texas this September.

Texas Parks and Wildlife Department biologists in the Hill County area are very optimistic about range conditions in that part of the state.

It has been a wet spring, which is important for turkey nesting. Turkey poults have been sighted as early as May 1 and the turkey hatch appears to be the best in four years.

George Litton, regional wildlife director for the Hill Country area, is optimistic about conditions for white-tailed deer.

"There appears to be a good fawn crop this spring," said Litton, "which will improve hunting later on. Food conditions are excellent just as bucks are developing their antlers for the fall."

Don Frels, regional director at La Porte for the Coastal Prairie region, also is hopeful for good deer production this year. A good acorn crop last fall kept the deer in good shape over the winter and range conditions are excellent for fawn production this spring.

Excessive rainfall along the upper Texas coast has caused some concern for the endangered Attwater's prairie chicken. Nesting areas in the Eagle Lake-Victoria vicinity were recently hit by heavy flooding. Frels said that the effects of excessive rain on the prairie chickens has yet to be determined.

The high water does not appear to have adversely affected Texas' native mottled duck. TP&WD statewide waterfowl project leader C. D. Stutzenbaker said that the mottled duck situation looks good for the fall.

Fresh Water Fills Texas Estuaries

Heavy May rains have turned many of the bays on the upper Texas coast into freshwater lakes.

Coastal fisheries biologists at the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department say that the short-term result of this freshwater influx is to kill most of the oysters, small shrimp, and fish or force the shrimp and fish from their nursery areas. But in the long run, the floods will actually improve fishing.

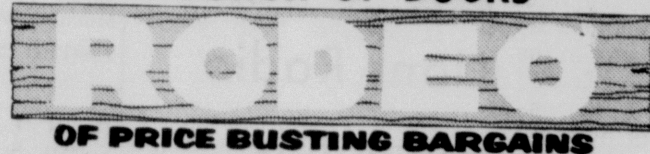

"Floods are a natural and necessary part of an estuarine ecosystem," said Jim Stevens, head of the P&W's finfish program. "Bays, bayous, coastal marshes, and the weather are all part of a dynamic, interrelated system."

"Flood waters are needed to enrich the coastal waters and 'flush' out many undesirable animals."

Oyster drills, known as conches to Texans, and many disease organisms are killed by fresh water. New plant and animal successions are started after each flood. Fish and oysters which die now are soon replaced by individuals that survive and grow rapidly in the nutrient-enriched, predator-free habitat.

For example, Hurricane Beulah in 1967 changed the salty Laguna Madre into a freshwater lake. A substantial blue crab fishery developed in the Laguna after the flood where crabs generally do not live because of high salinities.

Lions Radio Auction Is Successful

The 1975 version of the Cameron Noon Lions Club radio Auction was bigger and better than ever. Thanks of course goes to KMLR radio for furnishing advertising time for the 158 items and the 11 cash contributions donated to the Lions radio auction.

Lions L. W. Turner, Keith Raine, and Jimmy Bledsoe turned in Yoeman service in organizing the 1975 auction and all Noon Lions Club members pitched in on this primary money raising project of the year.

Last years radio auction funds were used for numerous Lions Club projects including a multi-purpose paved court at O. J. Thomas Jr. High; scholarships; eyeglasses; and others.

A portion of the 1975 auction is already committed to tennis courts at the Cameron City Park and to scholarships for the 1975-76 recipients to be selected in the spring of '76.

The Cameron Noon Lions Club members want to take this opportunity to again thank Cameron area merchants and citizens for making the 1975 radio auction the best yet.

For centuries men have been using nets to reap the rich harvest of the sea. There is a classic rhythm to the saga of the sea and fishermen. It is a tale filled with danger and persistence—success and failure. Indeed, it is very much akin to life itself.

You may not have to wrest your living from the sea, but you can learn a lesson from those who do. Fishermen the world around are, for the most part, devout folk. They've learned the meaning of faith. They know God. Seldom will you see even the smallest harbor town without a church. There men—and the women who wait for them—go to pray.

Have you been to your church lately?

MR. BUSINESSMAN:
IF THERE REALLY IS NO NEED FOR CONTINUOUS ADVERTISING - MINISTERS

SHOULD PREACH ONLY ONE SERMON OR SO PER YEAR. PEOPLE ARE AGAINST SIN ANYWAY SO WHY RAP ABOUT IT.

TRAFFIC LIGHTS

SHOULD BE TURNED OFF AT DANGEROUS INTERSECTIONS TO SAVE
ELECTRICITY. EVERYBODY SHOULD KNOW IT'S A DANGEROUS SPOT
AND THAT OUGHT TO BE SUFFICIENT.

HIGHWAY POLICE

SHOULD STOP DRIVING UP AND DOWN THE HIGHWAYS. NC NEED TO CAUTION DRIVERS BY PATROLLING HIGHWAYS. DRIVERS KNOW THE LAW AND ALWAYS OBEY IT.

TEACHERS

SHOULD NOT REVIEW LESSONS. TELL CHILDREN JUST ONCE AND THEY WILL NEVER FORGET.

BUT

IF YOU ARE ONE OF THE FOOLISH KIND-LIKE THE NOTRE DAME
CATHEDRAL THAT HAS STOOD FOR SIX CENTURIES BUT CONTINUES TO RING THE BELL EVERY DAY TO LET PEOPLE KNOW IT IS STILL THERE - AND BELIEVE IN CONTINUOUS PROFITABLE ADVERTISING, THEN YOUR ADVERTISING BELONGS IN ---
